1 I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

2 Lead Plaintiff Andrey Slomnitsky (“Plaintiff”), in the above-entitled action (the 3 “Action”), submits this memorandum in support of Plaintiff’s Counsel’s¹ application, pursuant 4 FED. R. CIV. P. 23(h) and 54(d)(2), for an award of attorneys’ fees for their services rendered in 5 this Action; for reimbursement of their litigation expenses incurred in the successful 6 prosecution of this Action; and for a payment to the Plaintiff to reimburse him for his time and 7 expenses representing the Class in the Action.

8 Plaintiff’s Counsel are simultaneously submitting the Memorandum of Law in Support 9 of Lead Plaintiff’s Motion for Final Approval of the Proposed Settlement and Approval of the 10 Plan of Allocation (the “Settlement Memorandum”), Memorandum in Support of Final 11 Certification of the Class and Final Approval of the Class Notice, and the Declaration of David 12 A.P. Brower in Support of Lead Plaintiff’s Motion for Final Certification of the Class, Final 13 Approval of the Class Notice, Final Approval of the Proposed Settlement, Approval of the 14 Proposed Plan of Allocation, and Plaintiff’s Counsel’s Motion for an Award of Attorneys’ 15 Fees and Reimbursement of Their Litigation Expenses and Lead Plaintiff’s request For 16 Reimbursement For His Time and Expenses Representing The Class, dated August 24, 2020
17 (the “Brower Declaration” or “Brower Decl.”). The Brower Declaration describes the history 18 of this Action, the claims asserted, the efforts of Plaintiff’s Counsel, the documents reviewed, 19 the evidence adduced, and the negotiations leading to the Settlement set forth in the Stipulation 20 between Plaintiff and defendants Scott Caldwell, Robert Buchan, Randy Buffington and 21 Stephen Jones (collectively, “Defendants”). In addition, the Settlement Memorandum 22 discusses the complexity, magnitude and risks associated with this Action and many of the 23 legal obstacles to Plaintiff’s success on the merits. Rather than repeating those matters here, 24 this memorandum will focus on the matters relevant to attorneys’ fee requests by successful 25 plaintiffs’ attorneys in class action litigation and the appropriateness of the fees requested by 27 Counsel is Brower Piven, Robbins, Geller, Rudman & Dowd LLP, and Muckleroy Lundt LLC.

Settlement, dated January 24, 2020 (“Stipulation”). Internal citations are omitted throughout 1 Plaintiff's Counsel here.

2 This Action was prosecuted by Plaintiff's Counsel on behalf of all persons and entities
3 who purchased Allied Nevada Gold Corporation ("Allied") common stock in the United States
4 or on a securities exchange in the United States between January 18, 2013 through August 5, 5 2013, inclusive (the "Class" and "Class Period"), on a fully contingent basis, and through their 6 efforts, they have obtained a proposed a cash settlement fund for the benefit of the Class of 7 $14,000,000.00, plus interest (the "Settlement Fund" or the "Settlement").

8 The Settlement was arrived at only after reviewing public documents and non-public 9 documents produced in discovery by Defendants and numerous third-parties; interviewing 10 numerous witnesses, including former employees of Allied; researching and drafting a detailed 11 Consolidated Amended Complaint and the Second Consolidated Amended Complaint; 12 engaging bankruptcy counsel, filing a Class claim and litigating in the United States
13 Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware in connection with Allied's Chapter 11
14 bankruptcy filing on March 30, 2015, which resulted in agreements with Allied's bankruptcy 15 estate that assured the applicable directors' and officers' ("D&O") insurance coverage would 16 be not treated as an asset of Allied Chapter 11 bankruptcy estate and that Allied or its 17 successor would not obstruct Plaintiffs' Counsel from obtaining documents in Allied's 18 possession relevant to the claims in this Action; defending against two rounds of motions to 19 dismiss; appealing this Court's September 20, 2017 Order dismissing the Action, with 20 prejudice, and successfully obtaining a reversal of that Order and remand of the Action from 21 the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit; engaging in an extensive damages 22 analysis; and vigorously negotiating with able opponents at two separate settlement meeting, 23 including a full-day mediation session with JAMS Mediator Jed D. Melnick, Esq.

24 As discussed below, this motion for fees and expenses is premised on a number of 25 factors, including the substantial monetary result Plaintiff's Counsel have achieved for Class 26 members; the numerous and substantial risks undertaken on a wholly contingent basis; 27 Plaintiff's Counsel's vigorous and skillful prosecution of the Action; and the lack of any 28 objections by Class members to the requested fees or expenses.

1 As compensation for their efforts on behalf of the Class, Plaintiff’s Counsel request an 2 award attorneys’ fees equal to 33 1/3 % of the total benefits accrued to the Class, or 3 $4,666,000, plus accrued interest at the same rate earned by the Settlement Fund. Plaintiff’s 4 Counsel also seek reimbursement of $324,557.52 in out-of-pocket expenses which they 5 reasonably and necessarily incurred in litigating the claims of Class members. Since this 6 Action arises under the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 (“PSLRA”), the 7 award of attorneys’ fees are governed by §12D(a)(6) of the PSLRA, which has adopted the 8 percentage of the recovery method for the award of attorneys’ fees in securities class actions.
9 See Senate Report No. 104-98, 104th Congress, reprinted in 1995 U.S.C.C.A.N. 679, 687-90 10 (Senate Committee Report on the PSLRA criticizing the lodestar method and stating that the 11 PSLRA intends fees to be based on a percentage). As demonstrated herein, the percentage of 12 the recovery method – which is consistent with the practice in the private marketplace where 13 contingent fee attorneys and their clients routinely enter into percentage fee arrangements – has 14 been widely embraced by courts in this Circuit and across the country as the best approach to 15 calculating attorneys’ fees. See, e.g., In re Omnivision Techs., Inc., 559 F. Supp 2d 1036, 1046 16 (N.D. Cal. 2008).

17 The one-third of the common fund requested is fair and reasonable here when 18 considered under the applicable standards and, as discussed below, is well within the normal 19 range of awards made in contingent fee securities class actions in the Ninth Circuit, 20 particularly in view of the considerable risks attendant in bringing and pursuing this litigation.
21 See, e.g., In re Pac. Enters. Sec. Litig., 47 F.3d 373, 379 (9th Cir. 1995) (approving fee equal 22 to 33% of a $12 million settlement fund).

23 Although highly criticized, see e.g., Court Awarded Attorneys’ Fees, Report of the 24 Third Circuit Task Force, Oct. 8, 1985 (Arthur Miller, Reporter), reprinted in 108 F.R.D. 237, 25 246-49, because it “encourages abuses such as unjustified work and protracting the litigation,” 26 which the percentage method does not, In re Activision Sec. Litig., 723 F. Supp. 1373, 1378 27 (N.D. Cal. 1989), and ““in practice . . . is difficult to apply [and] time consuming to 28 administer,” Lopez v. Youngblood, No. CV-F-0474 DLB, 2011 WL 10483569, at *4 (E.D.

1 Cal. Sept. 2, 2011) (quoting Manual for Complex Litigation §14.121 (4th ed. 2004)), a 2 “lodestar” analysis may still be used as a cross-check of the appropriateness of settling upon a 3 particular percentage. Importantly, under the lodestar method, plaintiffs’ counsel’s time in 4 common fund cases is routinely multiplied by a factor of 3 to 4 times their lodestar to 5 compensate them for having undertaken the very real risk of receiving no compensation at all.
6 See, e.g., Van Vranken v. Atl. Richfield Co., 901 F. Supp. 294, 298 (N.D. Cal. 1995).
7 Plaintiff’s Counsel’s total lodestar of $4,888,885.75 reflects 6,470.95 hours of time. Here, the 8 fee sought is a substantial $220,000 discount on the time Plaintiff’s Counsel actually spent 9 litigating this Action and reflects a negative multiplier of their lodestar.

10 Importantly, under either the percentage-of-the-recovery or the lodestar/multiplier 11 approach, the ultimate objective is an award that, in the Court’s view, will fairly and 12 reasonably compensate Plaintiff’s Counsel for their successful efforts on behalf of the Class.
13 See, e.g., In re Cont’l Ill. Sec. Litig., 962 F.2d 566, 568 (7th Cir. 1992) (explaining that the 14 goal of the fee-setting process “is to determine what the lawyer would receive if he were 15 selling his services in the market”); In re Oracle Sec. Litig., 852 F. Supp. 1437, 1450 (N.D.
16 Cal. 1994) (quoting In re Cont’l Ill., 962 F.2d 566 with approval). Consequently, and for the 17 reasons more specifically set forth below, Plaintiff’s Counsel submit that their requested award 18 of attorneys’ fees and reimbursement of expenses is fair and reasonable and should be granted.

19 Furthermore, the deadline for Class members to object to Plaintiff’s Counsel’s fee 20 request is September 28, 2020. Notice was sent almost 19,000 potential Class members and 21 nominees See Brower Decl., Ex. A (Declaration of Michael McGuinness of Epiq Class Action 22 & Claims Solutions, Inc., the professional claims administration approved by this Court in its 23 Order Granting Preliminary Approval Of Proposed settlement, Granting Conditional Class
24 Certification, and Providing For Notice To The Class, dated June 10, 2020, Regarding (A) 25 Mailing of the Notice And Proof Of Claim; (B) Publication Of The Summary Notice; And (C)
26 Requests For Exclusion Received to Date, dated August 20, 2020 (“Epiq Declaration” or “Epiq 27 Decl.”) at ¶10). The Notice stated that Plaintiff’s Counsel would seek an award of attorneys’ 28 fees and reimbursement of expenses not to exceed one-third of the $14,000,000 million total

1 benefit to the Class. While the deadline for objections has not yet passed, as of August 24, 2 2020, not a single Class member has objected to Plaintiff’s Counsel’s request for attorneys’
3 fees or reimbursement of expenses or requested exclusion from the Class. Id. at ¶¶17-18;

8 Appropriate Approach to Awarding Attorneys’ Fees in Common 9 Fund Cases

10 For their efforts in creating a common fund for the benefit of the Class, Plaintiff’s 11 Counsel seeks a reasonable percentage of the fund recovered as attorneys’ fees. The Supreme 12 Court has recognized that “a litigant or a lawyer who recovers a common fund for the benefit 13 of persons other than himself or his client is entitled to a reasonable attorney’s fee from the 14 fund as a whole.” Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 U.S. 472, 478 (1980); see also Blum v.
15 Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 900 n.16 (1984) (recognizing that under the common fund doctrine a 16 reasonable fee may be based “on a percentage of the fund bestowed on the class”). Likewise, 17 it has long been recognized in the Ninth Circuit that ““a private plaintiff, or his attorney, whose 18 efforts create, discover, increase or preserve a fund to which others also have a claim is entitled 19 to recover from the fund the costs of his litigation, including attorneys’ fees.”” In re 20 Omnivision Techs. Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 5:11-cv-05235-RMW, 2015 WL 3542413, at *1 (N.D.
21 Cal. June 5, 2015) (citing Vincent v. Hughes Air W., Inc., 557 F.2d 759, 769 (9th Cir. 1977)).²

22 The Ninth Circuit has expressly and consistently approved the use of the percentage 23 method in common fund cases. See Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1047-48 (9th 24 Cir. 2002); Torrisi v. Tucson Elec. Power Co., 8 F.3d 1370, 1376-77 (9th Cir. 1993); Paul, 25 Johnson, Alston & Hunt v. Graultry, 886 F.2d 268, 272 (9th Cir. 1989). While courts have 26 discretion to employ either a percentage-of-recovery or lodestar method in determining an

27 ² The Supreme Court has emphasized that private securities actions, like this action, are ““a 28 most effective weapon”” and “an essential supplement to criminal prosecutions and civil enforcement actions” brought by the SEC. See Tellabs, Inc. v. Makor Issues & Rights, Ltd., 551 U.S. 308, 313, 318 (2007).

1 attorneys' fee award, see Fischel v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc'y of the U.S., 307 F.3d 997, 1006 2 (9th Cir. 2002), the percentage method is the favored method in awarding attorneys' fees in 3 common fund cases. See Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050; In re Korean Air Lines Co., Ltd.
4 Antitrust Litig., No. CV 07-05107 SJO (AGRx), 2013 WL 7985367, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 23, 5 2013) ("The use of the percentage-of-the-fund method in common-fund cases is the prevailing 6 practice in the Ninth Circuit for awarding attorneys' fees and permits the Court to focus on a 7 showing that a fund conferring benefits on a class was created through the efforts of plaintiffs' 8 counsel."). As a result, courts within the Ninth Circuit have almost uniformly shifted to the 9 percentage method in such cases and used the lodestar method only "when special 10 circumstances indicate that the percentage recovery would be either too small or too large in 11 light of the hours devoted to the case or other relevant factors." In re Toyota Motor Corp.
12 Unintended Acceleration Mktg., No. 8:10ML2151 JVS (FMOx), 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 13 183941, at *229 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 28, 2012).

14 Compensating counsel in common-fund cases on a percentage basis is preferable for 15 many reasons. It more closely aligns the lawyers' interest in being paid a fair fee with the 16 interest of the class in achieving the maximum possible recovery in the shortest amount of 17 time. See, e.g., Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. VISA U.S.A., Inc., 396 F.3d 96, 122 (2d Cir. 2005) 18 (percentage-of-the-recovery method "provides a powerful incentive for efficient prosecution 19 and early resolution of litigation"); see also In re Activision, 723 F. Supp. at 1377-78. It is 20 also consistent with the practice in the private marketplace where contingent-fee attorneys are 21 customarily compensated by a percentage of the recovery. See also John C. Coffee, Jr., 22 Understanding the Plaintiff's Attorney: The Implications of Economic Theory for Private 23 Enforcement of the Law Through Class and Derivative Actions, 86 Colum. L. Rev. 669, 24 724-25 (1986). Further, use of the percentage method decreases the burden imposed on courts 25 by eliminating a detailed and "time-consuming" lodestar analysis and assuring that the 26 beneficiaries do not experience undue delay in receiving their share of the settlement. See In 27 re Bluetooth Headset Prods. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 942 (9th Cir. 2011); Lopez, 2011 WL

2 because it ‘relieves the court of the cumbersome, enervating, and often surrealistic process of 3 evaluating fee petitions.’”);

4 The PSLRA also authorizes courts to award attorneys’ fees and expenses to counsel for 5 the plaintiff class provided the award does not exceed “a reasonable percentage of the amount 6 of any damages and prejudgment interest actually paid to the class.” 15 U.S.C. §78u-4(a)(6); 7 see also In re Am. Apparel, Inc. S’holder Litig., No. CV 10-06352 MMM (JCGx), 2014 WL
8 10212865, at *20 (C.D. Cal. July 28, 2014) (“Congress plainly contemplated that percentage-9 of-recovery would be the primary measure of attorneys’ fees awards in federal securities class 10 actions.”); In re Rite Aid Corp. Sec. Litig., 396 F.3d 294, 300 (3d Cir. 2005) (“[T]he 11 percentage-of-recovery method was incorporated in the [PSLRA].”).

12 The percentage-of-recovery method is also particularly appropriate in securities cases 13 where a common fund has been created like this because “the benefit to the class is easily 14 quantified.” Bluetooth, 654 F.3d at 942; see also Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., Inc., 331 F. App’x 15 452, 456-57 (9th Cir. 2009) (overruling objection based on use of percentage-of-the-fund 16 approach); In re Galena Biopharma, Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 3:14-cv-00367-SI, 2016 WL 17 3457165, at *5 (D. Or. June 24, 2016) (percentage-of-recovery method preferred over lodestar 18 method in cash settlement); Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1046 (recognizing that the “use of 19 the percentage method in common fund cases appears to be [the] dominant” method for 20 determining attorneys’ fees).

21 B. Factors Used By Courts in the Ninth Circuit To Determine Fee Awards

22 Although not mandated by the Ninth Circuit, courts in this Circuit often consider the 23 following factors when determining an attorneys’ fee award: (1) the result obtained for the 24 class; (2) the complexity, difficulty and novelty of the issues; (3) the risks of non-payment 25 assumed by counsel; (4) counsel’s experience, skill and quality of representation; (5) awards in 26 similar cases; (6) comparison with counsel’s loadstar as a cross-check; and (6) the reaction of 27 the class. See, e.g., Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1046 (citing Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1048-28 50). As discussed below, application of these factors confirms that a fee of one-third of the 1 benefits conferred is justified here.

2 1. Results Obtained for the Class

3 Courts have consistently recognized that the result achieved is “the most critical factor” 4 in making a fee award. Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 436 (1983); accord Omnivision, 5 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1046 (applying Hensley to common fund case); see also Bluetooth, 654 6 F.3d at 942 (“Foremost among these considerations, however, is the benefit obtained for the 7 class.”); Here, Plaintiff’s Counsel obtained a substantial recovery for the Class. As discussed 8 above in the Settlement Memorandum, the $14,000,000 Settlement represents approximately 9 15% of the estimated maximum recoverable damages in this case if Plaintiff was completely 10 successful on all issues of liability and damages in the Action, and 100% of eligible Class 11 members filed and proved their claims, which is three times the median percentage recovery
12 for securities class action cases in the Ninth Circuit from 2009 to 2018, and almost seven times 13 the median ratio of settlements to investor losses in 2019. See Brower Decl. at ¶81.

14 On a projected claims-made basis, the estimated actual recovery to claiming Class 15 members is estimated to be approximately 21% of their maximum possible recovery, assuming 16 complete success on all issues of liability and damages for the entire Class, which is three 17 times the median percentage recovery for cases in the Ninth Circuit from 2009 to 2018 and 18 almost ten times the median ratio of settlements to investor losses in 2019. See Brower Decl. at 19 ¶82. Further, Class members will receive immediate compensation for their Allied stock 20 losses and will avoid the substantial risks of no recovery had the Action been litigated and lost 21 at summary judgment, trial or on appeal.

22 This achievement was only the result of Plaintiff’s Counsel’s relentless litigation and 23 tough settlement negotiations and merits an attorney fee award of one-third of the total benefits 24 achieved for the Class. The requested fee is also commensurate with the results obtained in 25 other cases where class counsel was awarded one-third of a common fund. Indeed, similar and 26 higher percentage fee awards have been made where the amount of the recovery is a much 27 lower percentage of class-wide potential damages. See, e.g., Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 28 1046 (“As previously discussed, the Settlement creates a total award of 9% of the possible

1 damages, which is more than triple the average recovery in securities class action 2 settlements.”).

3 2. The Complexity, Difficulty and Novelty of the Issues

4 The risks inherent in this litigation, as well as the complexity, difficulty and novelty of 5 the issues presented are important factors in determining a fee award. See Pac. Enters., 47 6 F.3d at 379 (holding fees justified “because of the complexity of the issues and the risks”); 7 Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1048 (“Risk is a relevant circumstance.”); Trauth v. Spearmint Rhino

23 baseline 25% recognized in the Ninth Circuit. See, e.g., Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1047.
24 This is because the uncertainty that an ultimate recovery would be obtained is magnified in 25 securities fraud actions. In re Washington Public Power Supply Sys. Sec. Litig., 19 F.3d 1291, 26 1300 (9th Cir. 1994) (“WPPS”).

27 As described in detail in the Brower Declaration and the Settlement Memorandum, 28 numerous novel and difficult issues stood in Plaintiff’s path to ultimate success on the merits

1 and then an actual recovery on any judgment obtained. First and foremost, among those risks 2 was getting past the pleading stage given the fact that the Action was twice dismissed with 3 prejudice at the pleading stage. It was only due to Plaintiff's Counsel's skill and tenacity that a 4 reversal was obtained, and the Class is recovering anything in this Action, to say nothing of the 5 $14,000,000 result achieved. Notably, only 12.8% of non-government civil cases appealed to 6 the Ninth Circuit were reversed in 2018. The expense and length of continued proceedings
7 necessary to prosecute the Action against Defendants through discovery, trial and appeals 8 would also be substantial. The uncertainty of the outcome and risk of any litigation, especially 9 in complex actions such as this, are well known, as are the difficulties and delays inherent in 10 such litigation. For instance, even if Plaintiff prevailed on the issue of liability, significant 11 additional risks would remain in establishing the existence and amount of damages. In the 12 end, the result in this Action would have hinged on a "battle of the experts" that is always a 13 perilous situation for litigants. In addition, class certification was not assured.

14 Another reason securities class actions are particularly difficult is the fact that the law 15 continues to dramatically evolve. For instance, the United States Supreme Court has almost 16 annually issued opinions unfavorable to plaintiffs altering and even overturning long 17 established propositions applicable to securities class action. See, e.g., California Pub. Emps' 18 Ret. Sys. v. ANZ Sec., Inc., U.S., 137 S. Ct. 2042(2017) (§10(b) statute of repose is not 19 tolled during the pendency of class action); Morrison v. Nat. Australia Bank Ltd., 561 U.S. 247 20 (2010) (limiting geographical reach of §10(b) to securities purchased on U.S. exchanges or in 21 the U.S.). With the ground continuously moving in this particular field, the uncertainty and 22 difficulty of navigating a securities class action through the trial and appellate stages is far 23 more difficult than doing so in cases involving more static areas of the law.

24 While Plaintiff's Counsel believe they would have ultimately prevailed on the merits, 25 Defendants' arguments created significant uncertainties and risk to that result at every stage 26 from pre-trial motions, class certification, discovery, summary judgment, trial and the 27 inevitable post-trial motion and appeals stages. Those stages also make clear the litigation, if it 28 continued, would takes years to complete at a geometrically higher cost in time and expenses –

1 on both sides. Unfortunately (or ironically), the source funding Defendants' counsel's efforts
2 to defeat Plaintiff was also the major (if not only practical) source of a recovery for the Class 3 and that source -- the D&O insurance coverage -- was a wasting asset that prolonged litigation 4 could have exhausted. That a $14,000,000 recovery was achieved in the face of these risks 5 supports a 33 1/3% fee award. Therefore, an evaluation of the risk of litigation supports the 6 requested fee award.

7 3. The Contingent Nature of the Fee and the Financial 8 Burden Carried By Plaintiff's Counsel

9 Corresponding with the difficulty, novelty, and risks of the litigation is the risk 10 undertaken by Plaintiff's Counsel to represent Plaintiff and the Class on a contingent fee basis.
11 See, e.g., Heritage, 2005 WL 1594389, at *14 ("The risks assumed by Class Counsel, 12 particularly the risk of non-payment or reimbursement of expenses, is a factor in determining 13 counsel's proper fee award."). As the Ninth Circuit explained:

14 It is an established practice in the private legal market to reward attorneys for 15 taking the risk of non-payment by paying them a premium over their normal 16 hourly rates for winning contingency cases. See Richard Posner, Economic 17 Analysis of Law § 21.9, at 534-35 (3d ed. 1986). Contingent fees that may far 18 exceed the market value of the services if rendered on a non-contingent basis are accepted in the legal profession as a legitimate way of assuring competent representation for plaintiffs who could not afford to pay on an hourly basis regardless whether they win or lose.

19 WPPS, 19 F.3d at 1299.

20 Plaintiff's Counsel undertook this litigation on a wholly contingent basis, and have 21 received no compensation during the nearly four-year course of this Action and have invested 22 6,470 hours in time and incurred significant expenses (totaling more than $4,888,800) to obtain 23 a Settlement for the benefit of the Class. In addition to the advancement of costs, lawyers 24 working on the case have forgone the business opportunity to devote time to other cases. See 25 Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050. Any fee award or expense reimbursement to Plaintiff's Counsel 26 has always been at risk, and completely contingent on the result achieved and on this Court's 27 discretion in awarding fees and reimbursing expenses.

28 Indeed, the risk of no recovery in complex cases of this type is very real. Plaintiff's

1 Counsel knows from personal experience that, despite the most vigorous and competent 2 efforts, their success in contingent litigation such as this is never guaranteed. Securities class 3 actions are particularly risky. The rate of dismissals in securities class actions has increased 4 nearly two-fold since passage of the PSLRA. See In re Cardinal Health Inc. Sec. Litig., 528 F.
5 Supp. 2d 752, 768 (S.D. Ohio 2007). The National Economic Research Associates, Inc. in its 6 report on Recent trends In Securities Class Action Litigation:2018 Full-Year Review, 7 calculates that 45% of all PSLRA cases from 2000 to 2018, 45% of all cases were dismissed 8 on a motion to dismiss at the pleading stage and 30% of motions to dismiss were granted in 9 part and denied in part. Thus, over the past 18 years, 75% of all PSLRA class actions were 10 dismissed, in whole or in part, at the pleading stage.

11 Surviving past the pleadings stage is, however, no guarantee of ultimate success on the 12 merits. There are numerous class actions in which plaintiffs' counsel expended thousands of 13 hours and yet received no remuneration despite their diligence and expertise where plaintiffs 14 have either lost at trial (and was forced to pay all of defendants' costs) or won at trial only to 15 have a substantial judgment overturned through post-trial motions. For example, in In re
16 Oracle Corp. Sec. Litig., No. C01-00988 SI, 2009 WL 1709050 (N.D. Cal. June 19, 2009), 17 aff'd, 627 F.3d 376 (9th Cir. 2010), the court granted summary judgment to defendants after 18 eight years of litigation, after plaintiff's counsel incurred over $7 million in expenses, and 19 worked over 100,000 hours, representing a lodestar of approximately $40 million. In another 20 PSLRA case, after a lengthy trial involving securities claims against JDS Uniphase 21 Corporation, the jury reached a verdict in defendants' favor. See In re JDS Uniphase Corp.
22 Sec. Litig., No. C-02-1486 CW (EDL), 2007 WL 4788556 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 27, 2007) And 23 success at trial is no guarantee of ultimately success. Numerous cases won by plaintiffs at trial 24 have been verdicts overturned on appeal. See, e.g., In re Apollo Group, Inc. Sec. Litig., No.
25 04-02147, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 61995 (D. Ariz. Aug. 4, 2008) (district court vacated $280 26 million jury verdict for plaintiffs and entered judgment in favor of defendants); Robbins v.
27 Koger Props., Inc., 116 F.3d 1441 (11th Cir. 1997) (verdict of $81 million for plaintiffs 28 reversed and judgment entered for defendant).

1 While bystanders may focus only on the fees awarded for the successes, they fail to 2 consider that those same fees help fund the enormous overhead expenses incurred during the 3 years of litigation when nothing is earned. These cases take hard, diligent work by skilled 4 counsel is required to develop facts and theories to prosecute a case or persuade Defendants to 5 settle on terms favorable to the Class. It is essential that counsel, such as Plaintiff's Counsel 6 here, have the credibility to let Defendants know with certainty that they will persevere in the 7 face of the risk, even at the expense of their fees.

8 Nor should the Court discount "the importance of assuring adequate representation for 9 plaintiffs who could not otherwise afford competent attorneys justifies providing those 10 attorneys who do accept matters on a contingent fee basis a larger fee than if they were billing 11 by the hour or on a flat fee." Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1047. For these reasons, the 12 contingent nature of counsel's representation supports the requested fee.

13 4. Counsel's Experience, Skill and Quality of Representation

14 The third factor to consider in determining what fee to award is the skill required and 15 quality of work performed. In re Heritage Bond Litig., No. 02-ML-1475 DT, 2005 U.S. Dist.
16 LEXIS 13555, at *63-*64 (C.D. Cal. June 10, 2005) ("Heritage IP"); In re TFT-LCD Flat
17 Panel Antitrust Litig., No. M 07-1827 SI, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 49885, at *69 (N.D. Cal.
18 Apr. 1, 2013). The successful prosecution of these complex claims required the participation 19 of highly skilled and specialized attorneys. Heritage I, 2005WL 1594389, at *12. ("The 20 experience of counsel is also a factor in determining the appropriate fee award.").

21 The Brower Declaration describes the background and experience of the firms 22 representing Plaintiff. See Brower Decl., Exhs. F - H. Brower Piven and Robbins Geller are 23 nationally recognized firm in the specialized field of complex securities class action litigation.
24 See www.browerpiven.com; www.rgrdlaw.com. See also, e.g., Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 25 1047 ("[P]rosecution and management of a complex national class action requires unique 26 legal skills and abilities."). Plaintiff's Counsel's efforts in efficiently obtaining a very 27 substantial recovery for the Class is the best indicator of their experience and abilities. Both in 28 terms of work performed and expenses incurred, this case was a model of efficient, effective,

1 and frugal prosecution of claims by Plaintiff’s Counsel. Indeed, “[w]ithout such expertise, it is 2 likely that the hours would have been significantly higher to achieve the same result. Other 3 counsel, even those experienced in [securities] litigation, would likely have had to expend 4 considerably more time to accomplish the same result.” See Craft v. County of San 5 Bernardino, 624 F. Supp. 2d 1113, 1123 (C.D. Cal. 2008).

6 From the outset, Plaintiff’s Counsel vigorously pursued the this Action to obtain the 7 maximum recovery for the Class, including conducting an investigation into the allegations 8 against Defendants; drafting multiple complaints; litigating in the bankruptcy court to protect 9 the interests of the Class and assuring that Plaintiff’s Counsel could obtain discovery from the 10 Chapter 11 and post-Chapter 11 Allied entity; successfully appealing the dismissal of the 11 Action before the Ninth Circuit; conducting discovery including from Defendants and third 12 parties; obtaining and reviewing the voluminous quantity of public and over 360,000 non-13 public documents relevant to Plaintiff’s claims; and consulting with experts in various fields 14 concerning the issues in the case. As a result, Plaintiff’s Counsel marshaled the facts needed to 15 successfully negotiate the exceptional Settlement before the Court. The foregoing speaks 16 volumes for the quality of representation the Class has received as does the highly favorable 17 recovery obtained for the Class reflects the substantial skill and experience of Plaintiff’s 18 Counsel, who have vigorously prosecuted this case for nearly six years.

19 Moreover, Defendants were represented by multiple powerhouse defense firms, the 20 New York City-based national law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, which is highly experienced 21 in the defense of securities class actions, and the well-respected Nevada firms of Erwin &
22 Thompson, LLP and, subsequently, Dickenson Wright, LLP, who contested Plaintiff’s claims 23 throughout the litigation. Additionally, Allied was represented in its Delaware bankruptcy by 24 Blank Rome LLP and Akin Gump Strauss Hauser & Feld, LLP, also large law national firms 25 that routinely defend securities class actions. In order to protect the interest of the Class both in 26 this Court and in the bankruptcy court, and ultimately obtain the substantial Settlement reached 27 in this Action, Plaintiff’s Counsel needed to confront all of these firms arrayed to protect 28 Allied and the individual defendants.

1 Courts recognize that the quality of opposing counsel should be considered in assessing 2 the requested fee. See, e.g., Wing v. Asarco Inc., 114 F.3d 986, 989 (9th Cir. 1997) (affirming 3 fee award and noting that the court’s evaluation of class counsel’s work considered “the 4 quality of opposition counsel and [defendant’s] record of success in this type of litigation”); 5 Heritage II, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 13555, at *66; In re Equity Funding Corp. of Am. Sec.
6 Litig., 438 F. Supp. 1303, 1337 (C.D. Cal. 1977). Thus, the fact that Plaintiff’s Counsel
7 achieved this Settlement for the Class in the face of such formidable legal opposition further 8 evidences the quality of their work, and this factor thus weighs in favor of granting Plaintiff’s 9 Counsel’s request for a one-third of the benefit fee award.

10 5. Awards in Similar Cases

11 The Ninth Circuit has held that in common fund cases, “the ‘benchmark’” percentage 12 for the fee award should be 25 percent. See, e.g., Heritage I, 2005 WL 1594403, at *5. See 13 also Grauly, 886 F.2d at 272. District courts may adjust that starting point ““when special 14 circumstances indicate that the percentage recovery would either be too small or too large in 15 light of the hours devoted to the case and other relevant factors.”” Morgan v. Childtime 16 Childcare Inc., No. SACV 17-01641 AG (KESx), 2020 WL 218515, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 6, 18 6137591, at *3 (C.D. Cal. June 18, 2018) (upward departure from the 25% benchmark to a 19 33.33% award was justified because of “complicated nature” of the case and “class counsel’s 20 success in achieving class certification”); Figueroa v. Allied Bldg. Prods. Corp., No. SACV 21 16-02249 AG (KESx), 2018 WL 4860034, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 24, 2018) (awarding 33% fee 22 award in complex class action wage and hour case).

23 The Ninth Circuit has also recognized the customary fee as “probative” of what fee is 24 reasonable. See Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1049; see also In re Countrywide Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 25 No. CV 07-05295 MRP (MANx), 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 126721, at *17 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 4, 26 2011). “If this were a non-representative litigation, the customary fee arrangement would be 27 contingent, on a percentage basis, and in the range of 30% to 40% of the recovery.” See, e.g., 28 In re Pub. Service Co., No. 91-0536M, 1992 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16326, at *20 (S.D. Ca. July

1 28, 1992); In re M.D.C. Holdings Sec. Litig., No. 89-0090 E(M), 1990 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3 traditionally ranged between 30% and 40% of the total recovery”).

4 As a result, “[i]n most common fund cases, the award [of attorneys’ fees] exceeds [the] 5 benchmark.” Knight v. Red Door Salons, Inc., No. 08-01520 SC, 2009 WL 248367, at *6

7 (E.D. Cal. 2010) (same). Courts have also held that exceeding the benchmark is particularly 8 likely in securities cases. Am. Apparel, 2014 WL 10212865, at * 23 (citing cases). In fact, 9 “[e]mpirical studies show that, regardless whether the percentage method or the lodestar 10 method is used, fee awards in class actions average one-third of the recovery.” Romero v.

13 Accordingly, the Ninth Circuit and numerous district courts in this Circuit have 14 awarded fees of 30% or greater in complex class action cases. See, e.g., Morris v. Lifescan, 15 Inc., 54 F. App’x 663, 664 (9th Cir. 2003) (affirming attorneys’ fee award of 33% of a

3 Courts also consider the reaction of the class when deciding whether to award the 4 requested fee. Pincay Invs. Co. v. Covad Communs. Group, Inc., 90 F. App'x. 510, 511 (9th

1 Summary Notice was published on three separate dates electronically over the PR Newswire.
2 Epiq Decl. at ¶¶10-11. Moreover, the Notice was posted on the Claim Administrator’s 3 website. The Notice informed Class members that Plaintiff’s Counsel would apply for 4 attorneys’ fees not to exceed one-third of the total benefits to the Class and reimbursement of 5 litigation expenses not to exceed $450,000. The Notice also advised Class members of their 6 right to object to Plaintiff’s Counsel’s fee request.

7 Consistent with In re Mercury Interactive Corp. Sec. Litig., 618 F.3d 988, 994 (9th Cir.
8 2010), which requires counsel’s fee motion to be filed before the deadline for objections to 9 afford class members the opportunity to “thoroughly to examine counsel’s fee motion,” the 10 deadline for filing any objections is September 28, 2020 (providing for 35 days to examine the 11 papers). As of August 24, 2020, no member of the Class has yet objected to Plaintiff’s 12 Counsel’s application for an award of attorneys’ fees.

13 7. The Lodestar Cross-Check

14 Although courts in this Circuit typically apply the percentage approach to determine 15 attorneys’ fees in common-fund cases, “[a]s a final check on the reasonableness of the 16 requested fees, courts often compare the fee counsel seeks as a percentage with what their 17 hourly bills would amount to under the lodestar analysis.” Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 18 1048; see also Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050 n.5 (Ninth Circuit noted that an analysis of the 19 “lodestar method is merely a cross-check on the reasonableness of a percentage figure.”); Luna 20 v. Marvell Tech. Grp., No. C 15-05447 WHA, 2018 WL 1900150, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 20, 21 2018).

22 When the lodestar is used as a cross-check, “the focus is not on the ‘necessity and 23 reasonableness of every hour’ of the lodestar, but on the broader question of whether the fee 24 award appropriately reflects the degree of time and effort expended by the attorneys.” In re
25 Tyco Int’l., Ltd. Multidistrict Litig., 535 F. Supp. 2d 249, 270 (D.N.H. 2007); Glass, 331 Fed

27 method as a primary tool for setting a fee award, the lodestar cross check can be performed 28 with less exhaustive cataloging and review of counsel’s hours.’) (quoting Young v. Polo

1 Retail, LLC, No. C-02-4546 VRW, 2007 WL 951821, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 28, 2007). In re

3 Apr. 20, 2012) (“an itemized statement of legal services is not necessary for an appropriate
4 lodestar cross-check”); Fernandez v. Victoria Secret Stores, LLC, No. CV 06-04149 MMM 5 (SHx), 2008 WL 8150856, at *9 (C.D. Cal. July 21, 2008).

6 A lodestar cross-check first computes the plaintiffs’ attorneys’ reasonable hourly rate 7 for the litigation and multiplies that rate by the number of hours dedicated to the case.⁵ The 8 cross-check then compares that figure with the attorneys’ fees award. In cases applying the 9 lodestar method, courts next “‘routinely enhance[] the lodestar to reflect the risk of 10 non-payment in common fund cases.’” Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1051 (quoting WPPS, 19 F.3d at 11 1300) (Ninth Circuit approving a multiplier of 3.65). “In securities class actions, it is common 12 for a counsel’s lo[de]star figure to be adjusted upward by some multiplier,” Heritage I, 2005 13 WL 1594403, at *22,⁶ and multipliers of between 3 and 4.5 have been common. See, e.g., Van

14 _____
15 ⁵ The Supreme Court has held that the use of current rates is proper since such rates more 16 adequately compensate for inflation and loss of use of funds. See Missouri v. Jenkins, 491 U.S.
17 274, 283-84 (1989).

18 ⁶ “Courts may find hourly rates reasonable based on evidence of other courts approving 19 similar rates or other attorneys engaged in similar litigation charging similar rates.” Parkinson 20 v. Hyundai Motor Am., 796 F. Supp. 2d 1160, 1172 (C.D. Cal. 2010). As demonstrated in the 21 Brower Declaration, and the individual firm declarations annexed thereto, Exhs. F - G, the 22 rates of Plaintiff’s Counsel (adjusted for the passage of the years) have been routinely 23 approved by courts in this circuit. See, e.g., In re Amgen Inc. Sec. Litig., No. CV 7-2536 PSG 24 (PLAX), 2016 WL 10571773, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 25, 2016) (in securities class action, 25 approving hourly rates of $750-985 for partners, $500-800 for of counsel/senior counsels, and 26 $300-725 for other attorneys); Roberti v. OSI Sys., Inc., No. CV13-09174 MWF(MRW), 2015 27 WL 8329916, at *7 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 8, 2015) (in securities class action, approving hourly rates 28 of between $525 and $975). Additionally, courts have found “[t]he proper reference point in determining an appropriate fee award is the rates charged by private attorneys in the same legal market as prevailing counsel,” Ramon v. Kern High Sch. Dist., 98 F. App’x 627, 629 (9th Cir.
2004); accord Sussman v. Patterson, 108 F.3d 1206, 1212 (10th Cir. 1997), and have applied out-of-state counsel’s hometown billing rates even where prevailing rates in the geographic location of the case might be lower. See Pelletz v. Weyerhaeuser Co., 592 F. Supp. 2d 1322, 1326-27 (W.D. Wash. 2009) (“The Court finds that the hourly rates charged by the attorneys in this case are reasonable for the work performed in each of the respective relevant communities by attorneys of similar skill, experience, and reputation.”); Gottlieb v. Barry, 43 F.3d 474, 485 n.8 (10th Cir. 1994) (“where the prevailing party used out-of-town counsel whose rates were higher than those charged locally, we have permitted an award based on those higher rates”).
As also demonstrated in the Brower Declaration, Plaintiff’s Counsel’s rates are consistent with

1 Vranken, 901 F. Supp. at 298 (“Multipliers in the 3-4 range are common in lodestar awards for 2 lengthy and complex class action litigation.”).⁷

3 Here, Plaintiff’s Counsel spent 6,470.95 hours of attorney and paraprofessional time
4 prosecuting this Action for almost six years on behalf of the Class. Brower Decl., Exhs F - G.
5 The resulting lodestar is $4,888,825.75, representing a negative multiplier of Plaintiff’s 6 Counsel’s time representing a six figure discount of their time based on their fee request here, 7 This underscores the reasonableness of the fee request. See, e.g., Castro v. Sanofi Pasteur Inc., 8 No. 11-7178 (JMV) (MAH), 2017 WL 4776626, at *9 (D.N.J. Oct. 23, 2017) (“Because the 9 lodestar cross-check results in a negative multiplier, it provides strong evidence that the 10 requested fee is reasonable.”). “When the lodestar used in the cross-check is greater than the 11 25% benchmark fee, i.e., there is a ‘negative multiplier,’ that is usually a sign that an upward 12 adjustment of the percentage should be made.” In re Dynamic Random Access Memory

14 and recommendation adopted, No. C 06-4333 PJH, 2014 WL 12879521 (N.D. Cal. June 27,

16 lawyers have accrued on a time-and-services basis, it is relatively easy to support a percentage-

18 other attorneys engaged in similar litigation in their local community. Finally, by comparison, 19 the rates charged by attorneys who practice in the areas of complex litigation and bankruptcy 20 law at Sullivan & Cromwell, Defendants’ New York City lead defense counsel here, are 21 significantly higher (by almost a third) to those charged by Plaintiff’s Counsel of similar 22 experience in the same locale. See Brower Decl., Exh. J. See Blum, 465 U.S. at 895 n. 11

1 based fee.” Nilsen v. York Cty., 400 F. Supp. 2d 266, 271 (D. Me. 2005). Indeed, “the fact

4 Litig., 238 F. Supp. 2d 480, 490 (E.D.N.Y. 2002). Thus, a “negative multiplier suggests that

10 III. PLAINTIFF’S COUNSEL’S EXPENSES WERE REASONABLY AND 11 NECESSARILY INCURRED TO ACHIEVE THE BENEFIT OBTAINED

12 Plaintiff’s Counsel also requests that the Court grant their application for 13 reimbursement of $324,557.52 in litigation costs incurred in connection with the prosecution 14 of this litigation. “Attorneys may recover their reasonable expenses that would typically be 15 billed to paying clients in non-contingency matters.” Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1048 16 (citing Harris v. Marhoefer, 24 F.3d 16, 19 (9th Cir. 1994)). Notably, this amount is 17 significantly lower than the cap on the amount of litigations expenses Plaintiff’s Counsel 18 would seek of $450,000 that appeared in the Notice.

19 The requested expenses are summarized by category in the Brower Declaration (¶144)
20 and detailed in the respective individual firm declarations of Plaintiff’s Counsel. See Brower 21 Decl., Exhs. F - H. These expenses include, inter alia, photocopying, postage, messengers, 22 filing fees, travel, computer database research, electronic document storage, and the fees and 23 expenses of Plaintiff’s experts and consultants, including Plaintiff’s outside mining and 24 damages experts and Plaintiff’s bankruptcy counsel. Cf., Vincent v. Reser, No. C 11-03572 25 CRB, 2013 WL 621865, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 19, 2013) (granting award of costs and expenses 26 for “three experts and the mediator, photocopying and mailing expenses, travel expenses, and 27 other reasonable litigation related expenses”). “Attorneys routinely bill clients for all of these 28

1 expenses.” Knight, 2009 WL 248367, at *7.⁸

2 Plaintiff’s Counsel also submit that these expenses were reasonably and necessarily 3 incurred to achieve the result obtained for the Class, and that they incurred these expenses 4 carefully and avoided duplication of effort and, therefore, multiplying the expenses. From the 5 outset, Plaintiff’s Counsel was aware that it might not recover any of their expenses or, at the 6 very least, would not recover anything until the Action was successfully resolved. Plaintiff’s 7 Counsel also understood that, even if the case was ultimately successful, payment of its 8 expenses would not compensate it for the lost use of funds advanced to prosecute the Action.
9 Thus, Plaintiff’s Counsel was motivated to, and did, take significant steps to minimize 10 expenses wherever practicable without jeopardizing the vigorous and efficient prosecution of 11 the action.

12 Lastly, the Notice provided to potential Class members informed them that Plaintiff’s 13 Counsel would seek reimbursement up to $450,000, substantially more than the actual request 14 here (i.e., over $125,000 less). The deadline for Class members to object to Counsel’s request 15 for reimbursement of litigation expenses (like the other relief Plaintiff and Plaintiff’s Counsel 16 seek) is September 28, 2020. As of August 24, 2020, no Class member has objected to 17 Plaintiff’s Counsel’s request for expenses. Brower Decl. at ¶15.⁹

18 IV. LEAD PLAINTIFF’S REQUEST PURSUANT TO 15 U.S.C. §78u-
19 4(a)(4) FOR REIMBURSEMENT OF HIS TIME IS REASONABLE

20 Plaintiff seeks an award of $10,000 pursuant to §78u-4(a)(4) in connection with their 21 representation of the Class, as detailed in the accompanying Brower Declaration. The PSLRA 22 permits courts to award lead plaintiffs in federal securities actions reimbursement for their time 23 devoted to participating in and directing the litigation on behalf of a class. See 15 U.S.C.

24 ⁸ See also In re Media Vision Tech. Sec. Litig., 913 F. Supp. 1362, 1371 (N.D. Cal. 1996); In 25 re Cont’l Ill., 962 F.2d at 570; Thornberry v. Delta Air Lines, Inc., 676 F.2d 1240, 1244 (9th Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., 741 F. Supp. 84, 86 (S.D.N.Y. 1990).

27 ⁹ Further, Plaintiff is also seeking approval to pay the Claims Administrator for the cost of the 28 notice program and administration of the Settlement. See Brower Decl. at ¶¶155-156.

1 §78u-4(a)(4); see also Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 977 (9th Cir. 2003) (holding that 2 named plaintiffs are eligible for “reasonable” payments as part of a class action settlement).
3 Indeed, important policy considerations to encourage enforcement of the federal securities 4 laws by shareholders underlie these awards:

5 In granting compensatory awards to the representative plaintiff in PSLRA class 6 actions, courts consider the circumstances, including the personal risks incurred 7 by the plaintiff in becoming a lead plaintiff, the time and effort expended by 8 that plaintiff in prosecuting the litigation, any other burdens sustained by that 9 plaintiff in lending himself or herself to prosecuting the claim, and the ultimate 10 recovery. Furthermore, courts consider not only the efforts of the representative 11 plaintiffs in pursuing claims, but also the important policy role they play in the enforcement of the federal securities laws on behalf of persons other than themselves. Such enforcement is vital because if there were no individual shareholders willing to step forward and pursue a %claim on behalf of other investors, many violations of law might go unprosecuted.

12 In re Xcel Energy, Inc. Sec., Derivative & ERISA Litig., 364 F. Supp. 2d 980, 1000 (D. Minn.
13 2005).

14 When evaluating the reasonableness of a lead plaintiff award, courts may consider 15 factors such as “the actions the plaintiff has taken to protect the interests of the class, the 16 degree to which the class has benefitted from those actions, . . . the amount of time and effort 17 the plaintiff expended in pursuing the litigation” among others. Staton, 327 F.3d at 977.

18 As detailed in the Declaration of Andrey Slomnitsky, see Brower Decl. Exh. C, 19 Plaintiff devoted time and effort to monitoring the Action and directing his counsel, including 20 reviewing and commenting on case filings, providing input on litigation strategy in connection 21 with discovery, and the parties’ mediations.

22 Plaintiff’s request here is also in line with requests in similar cases. See, e.g., Todd v.
23 STARR Surgical Co., No. CV 14-5263 MWF (GJSx), 2017 WL 4877417, at *6 (C.D. Cal.
24 Oct. 24, 2017) (awarding $10,000 award); In re Veritas Software Corp. Sec. Litig., 396 25 F. App’x 815, 816 (3d Cir. 2010) ($15,000 awarded to each lead plaintiff). Indeed, courts have 26 approved awards to lead plaintiffs in PSLRA cases far greater than what Plaintiff is requesting 27 here. See, e.g., Dusek v. Mattel, Inc., No. CV 99-10864-MRP (CWx), 2003 WL 27380801, at 28

1 *1 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 29, 2003) (awarding over $110,000 to three lead plaintiffs).¹⁰

2 Finally, the Notice informed the Class that Plaintiff may seek up to $10,000 for his 3 time and expenses representing the Class. As of August 24, 2020, no Class member has 4 objected to that request. Plaintiff's Counsel submits that amount requested is reasonable and, 5 indeed, modest compared to awards made to lead plaintiffs in other PSLRA cases and should 6 be granted.

7 V. CONCLUSION

8 Based upon the Brower Declaration and the forgoing, Plaintiff's Counsel respectfully 9 submit that the Court should (1) award Plaintiff's Counsel one-third of the Settlement Fund, or 10 $4,666,000 in attorneys' fees, plus interest at the same rate earned by the Settlement Fund, (2) 11 reimburse Plaintiff's Counsel for their litigation expenses in the amount of $324,557.52, plus 12 interest at the same rate as the Settlement Fund, (3) award the Lead Plaintiff $10,000 for his 13 time and expenses representing the Class in this Action, and (4) approve an initial payment to 14 the Claims Administrator for the costs related to the notice program, in the amount of 15 $58,989.16. See Brower Decl. at ¶¶154-155.
